About Carrie St. Louis

Carrie St. Louis is best known for her portrayal of 'Rose' in "Titanique", 'Glinda' in the Broadway and national touring company of "Wicked", 'Sherrie' in the Broadway and Las Vegas companies of "Rock of Ages", and as the closing Lauren in the Tony Award winning Best Musical, "Kinky Boots."

She began working professionally in the West Coast Premiere of The Fix after graduating from the Thornton School of Music at USC with a degree in Vocal Arts. She went on to play Amanda Bell in the World Premiere of "Justin Love" at LA's Celebration Theater, which received an LA Drama Critics Circle Nomination for Best Production. She then moved to Las Vegas to open "Rock of Ages" at The Venetian Hotel, for which she was awarded Best Performance by a Leading Actress in a Musical by Broadway World Las Vegas.

Carrie made her Broadway debut as Sherrie in "Rock of Ages" in 2014. Later that year, she went on the road as Glinda in the national tour of "Wicked." In 2016, Carrie returned to Broadway, starring as Glinda at the Gershwin Theater, for which she was nominated for a Broadway.com Audience Choice Award for Best Female Replacement in a long running show.

Her sold-out solo cabaret show in LA, "Here I Go Again," received a Broadway World nomination for Best Female Cabaret in 2012. Her second solo show, "Something Good," played to sold out crowds at New York's iconic Feinstein's/54 Below as well as cabaret clubs across the United States.

In 2016, Carrie had the honor of performing "For Good" with her Wicked co-star, Jennifer DiNoia, for First Lady Michelle Obama at a United Nations event in New York City. She's guested in concert with the band Foreigner, and she's sung the National Anthem for the LA Dodgers, LA Lakers, Chicago Cubs, New York Mets, New York Islanders and the PAC-12 Tournament.

In 2017, she starred Off-Broadway as Annette Hargrove in "Cruel Intentions: The Musical," based on the cult-classic film, which received an Outer Critics Circle nomination for Best Off-Broadway Musical. Her voice can be heard on the Original Cast Recording which topped the Billboard Broadway charts.

In the Spring of 2018, Carrie joined the company of the 2013 Tony winner for Best Musical, "Kinky Boots," as Lauren. She was the final Lauren when the show closed in 2019 after six incredible years on Broadway.

Carrie has appeared in multiple television shows. She played Becca Mainzer on "Elementary" (CBS), working alongside Lucy Liu, Jonny Lee Miller, and Jon Michael Hall. She also appeared as Alice on the hit TV show "Younger" (TVLand) opposite Sutton Foster. She can be seen on Blindspot (NBC) and in the series finale of "The Good Fight" as Dawn Saunter, opposite Audra McDonald. Carrie just wrapped an indie film titled "The Blonde Experiment," which should be released in the coming year.

Carrie opened the Off Broadway hit, "Titanique," at the Daryl Roth Theater in November of 2022 as Rose Dewitt Bukater, which won the Lucille Lortel award for Best Musical. In July of 2023, she headed out to Kansas City to play her dream role of Elle Woods in "Legally Blonde" at The Starlight Theater for 8,000 audience members a night, directed by the original Brooke Wyndham, Nikki Snelson. In February of 2024, Carrie sold out her solo show at The McCallum Theater in Palm Desert, CA where she first got her start playing Annie in "Annie" when she was 10 years old. This spring, Carrie is headed to the Fulton Theater in Pennsylvania to play Catherine Hiatt in Jason Robert Brown's "The Last Five Years."

Carrie is also a vocal coach who travels often for masterclasses while also maintaining a private studio in New York City.
